

Granville Center's Jessie Carleton turns 100

The always bubbly, upbeat and good-humored Granville Center resident Jessie Carleton made the 100-year milestone last Monday, Jan. 10 with a beautiful celebration headed by recreation director Jennifer Hall.

Along with decorations, a delicious cake and balloons and her thankful family attending via Zoom, fellow residents and staff sang a big happy birthday to Jessie.

"If you're going to throw a party for any resident here, Jessie would be one of the first people on your mind to do it for," said Hall. "She has quite the personality and probably could have done stand-up in her prime. She deserves a long life."
