Great kids did a great thing at Slate Valley Center for Valentine's Day

Valentine's Day is not only for lovers; it also is a special day for families, their kids, grandkids and great-grand-kids.

On Saturday, Feb. 12, great-great-grandchildren Kael and Quinn Ballard, the children of Amanda Ballard from Granville whose great-grandmother was the late Slate Valley Center resident Phyllis Reilly, stopped by the center on State Route 40 in Granville and gave out 88

Valentine's Day cards, one for each resident.

The cards expressed "we love you all" and that the center's residents are always being thought of - on Valentine's Day and every day.

"The Ballards made a gesture that you cannot put a price tag on," said Slate Valley Center recreation director Andrea Kelley. "This truly brightened the day of each and every resident. It was so thoughtful."

Spaghetti dinner fundraiser Feb. 28

A take-out-only spaghetti dinner fundraiser for the family of Dan Armer will take place on Monday, Feb. 28, from 4 to 7 p.m. at On the Rocks Pub in Granville.

Proceeds from the dinner will be used to help with funeral expenses for Dan Armer, who passed away in January.

Organizers of the dinner encourage all to come and support his family during a very difficult time.

The menu will include a delicious spaghetti dinner along with salad, rolls, dessert and the satisfaction of helping out a deserving local family in their time of need.

Tickets are $15. A bake sale also will be held on the night of the event.

For more information and to purchase tickets in advance, call Bert at 518-937-1076.

On the Rocks Pub is located at 22 W. Main St. in Granville.
